IN THE HOG LOT.

I always give the hogs plenty of coal, salt and ashes. This is what the pigs need to make bone and muscle.

Good feeding is giving the hogs just what they will eat up clean and by no means allow feed to be left in the trough.

Even if you are giving your hogs and pigs plenty of slop, you should give them access to fresh water, as it is a healthy giver.

Keep your pigs growing, and the older the pigs the more the feed. But it should be increased gradually as the pigs grow. Do not fail to keep the salt and ashes by the hogs all the time.

This is the time of year to look after your pig bed. Use plenty of common salt on the ground before you put in fresh bedding. You should also be careful to clean out beds good before you use the salt.

For scratches, burns, cuts, insect bites and the many little hurts common to every family, DeWitt's Carbolic Witch Hazel Salve is the best remedy. It is soothing, cooling, clean and healing. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Sold by Chas. C. Davis, druggist.

It is given out that Caleb Powers fourth trial for complicity in the murder of Wm. Goebel will begin July 29 at a special term of court which has been called by Judge J. E. Robins, who was appointed by Governor Beckham to try the case.

We wish a law could be passed prohibiting the barbaric custom of opening caskets in public at church funerals. It is a relic of dark ages and has no place in a civilized community. It jars on the sensibility of every tender cord, and is something that the churches and undertakers ought to combine and put to an end. In nine-tenths of the cases it's merely a pandering to a ghoulish curiosity. People who never spoke to the deceased in their life parade around the church, gaze at the form of our loved one, then go out of the presence of death, not to talk of the good deeds done in life, but to criticize the appearance of the poor clay that death has left for once at their mercy. Death is a sacred thing. If we are going on a long journey we do not make our adieus before a gaping crowd; we ought not to be expected to sit in the house of mourning while people we never speak to, who have no claim on us or our loved one, jostle each other in their desire to view the remains, and they get together and gossip over what they saw or failed to see. We believe that a majority of the people detest the painful funeral scene as much as we do and are more than glad to see them ended out are afraid to break a "custom." But it is a duty the minister and undertaker owe to themselves and the long suffering public to put a stop to the exhibition, and they will find the public only too glad to uphold them with a hearty amen.

While the nomination of Augustus E. Wilson was unanimous and without delay by the Republican Convention which met in Louisville Wednesday, yet the Courier-Journal adds "it by no means follows that all was sweet harmony which the Republican leaders of the State endeavored to proclaim before and during the convention. In the nomination of the minor offices the convention resented the efforts of the machine to force the slate upon it. This was shown in several instances, notably that for Attorney-General, when Judge James W. Breathitt took the nomination, winning from John F. Lockett, who had been picked by the office-holding cabal." Not only this but there was trouble in the committee room and all along down the line with the minor offices. But however peaceful it may have been, it signifies but little in the wind up. This is Democratic year in Kentucky and S. W. Hager and those associated with him on the State ticket will go in by the usual old time Democratic majorities.

One of our exchanges tells of an old German who had a boy of whom he was very proud, and decided to find out the trends of his mind. He adopted a novel method by which to test him. He slipped into the boy's room one morning and placed on his table a bottle of whiskey, a Bible and a silver dollar. "Now," said he, "when dot boy comes in if he takes dot dollar he's going to be a beeznis man; if he takes dot Bible he's going to be a preacher; if he takes dot whiskey he's no good, and going to be a drunkard." Then he hid behind a door to see which his son would choose. In came the boy whistling. He ran up to the table picked up the Bible and put it under his arm then snatched up the bottle, took two or three drinks, picked up the dollar and put it in his pocket, and went out smacking his lips. The Dutchman poked his head out from behind the door and exclaimed: "Mein Got, he is going to be a politician."

REMARKABLE WILL.

Justice Walter Lloyd Smith, who presides over the third department of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, brought with him to the dinner of the New York University Law School Alumni Association Saturday night what he said was the most remarkable document that ever came into his possession. Others who read the document, the last will and testament of Charles Lounsbury, who died in the Cook County Asylum at Dunning, Ill., were disposed to agree with him. Here it is:

I Charles Lounsbury, being of sound mind and disposing memory do hereby make and publish this, my last will and testament, in order as justly as may be to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding men.

"That part of my interest which is known in law and recognized in the sheep-bound volumes as my property, being inconsiderable and of no account, I make no disposal of this in my will.

"My right to live being but a life estate, is not at my disposal, but, these things except all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath:

"Item: I give to good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children all good little words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments and I charge said parents to use them justly and generously, as the needs of their children may acquire.

"Item: I leave to children inclusively, but only for the term of their childhood, all and every, flowers of the fields and the blossoms of woods with the right to play among them freely according to the customs of children, warning them at the same time against thistles and thorns. And I devise to children the banks of the brooks and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, and the odors of the willows dip therein, and the white clouds that float over the giant trees. And I leave the children the long, long days to be merry in, in a thousand ways, and the night and the moon and the train of the Milky Way to wonder at, but subjects nevertheless, to the rights thereafter given to lovers.

at night, with all pictures that may be seen in the burning woods, to enjoy let or hindrance and without any encumbrance of care.

"Item: To lovers, I devise their imaginary world, with whatever they may need, as the stars of the sky, the red roses by the wall, the bloom of the hawthorn, the sweet strains of the music and aught else by which they may desire to figure to each other the lastness and beauty of their love.

"Item: To young men jointly I devise and bequeath all boisterous, inspiring sports of rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength, though they are rude; I give them the power to make lasting friendship, and of possessing companions, and to them exclusively I give all merry songs and brave choruses, to sing with lusty voices.

"Item: And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers I leave memory and I bequeath to them the volumes of the poems of Burns Shakespeare and other poets, if there be others, to the end if that they may live over the old days again, freely and fully without tithes or diminution.

"Item: To our loved ones with snowy crowns, I bequeath the happiness of old age, the love and gratitude of their children until they fall asleep."—New York times.

What to do in Dyspepsia

Dieting has become a great fad in America, and just as, years ago, we, as a nation, over-ate, so now we are under-eating. The one is as bad as the other. Man needs food and plenty of it to sustain life and to give strength to compete in this busy world.

It is not, however, the fact that you may eat too much that hurts you, but that you don't digest what you eat. And if that results in dyspepsia you will not cure the trouble by cutting down your food supply. If your digestive organs were creating the proper amount of gastric and pepsin juices you would have no dyspepsia. To cure the disease you must create an abundance of these necessary juices.

This can only be done by a reliable tonic laxative, and as its name indicates, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains the very ingredients needed to do this. Take it regularly for awhile according to the explicit directions on each bottle and you will soon be cured of dyspepsia and all of the accompanying symptoms such as indigestion, sour stomach, bloated stomach, heartburn, nervousness, wind on the stomach, etc. Every bottle carries with it an absolute guarantee to do what we claim. It is a gentle, pleasant, effective laxative and you will like its taste and be pleased with its action.

One of the great friends of this remedy to Dr. P. E. Keener, a Lieutenant in one of the United States companies that fought at the battle of Gettysburg. While in the war, Dr. Keener, and eating the rough food of a soldier, he contracted severe dyspepsia, and lost weight rapidly. A friend in the regiment called his attention to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he promptly began to use. It not only cured his dyspepsia but increased his weight 40 pounds.

Your druggist will sell you a bottle at 50 cents or if you will send a check, a hundred times that to you.

FREE TEST These wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before buying, can have two sample bottles sent to their homes by addressing the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do as we claim, and is only open to those who have never taken it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of stomach, liver or bowel disease. Send for it now effective for children, women and old folks. A guaranteed, permanent home cure. THE PUBLIC VERDICT: "Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin be sold and sure as DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN." This product bears purity guarantee No. 17, Washington, D. C. PEPSIN SYRUP CO. 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

The Court of Appeals handed down a decision in the local option election contest case of Somerset, Tuesday, affirming the decision of the lower court. Mr. Giessler, of New York City, Chief Engineer of the Cumberland Falls Power Syndicate, is in our city this week. Mr. Giessler talks business. He presents things in a much different view than did Mr. Cox. He says Barbourville and Somerset have never been considered seriously by the company; that Corbin has been considered, but adds that this is the only site that he advises. He does not agree with Mr. Cox in all his views. Mr. Giessler is a business man, and wants to place this thing on a business basis. He is not filling our heads with fairy tales. He hoots at the idea of placing the power plant in one county and the factory in another. Mr. Giessler has written for other members of the company and something will be done at once. He is here for business, and is not asking the people of this town to give him thirty thousand dollars.—Whitley Courier.

Under an agreement reached between eighteen railroads and the State of Missouri in the Federal Court at Kansas City, the two-cent passenger fare law is to be given a three month's trial, at the end of which, if it is found unremunerative, the railroads may appeal the matter to the courts. Don't Neglect It
 It is a serious mistake to neglect a weak heart. It is such a short step to chronic heart disease. When you notice irregularity of action, occasional short breath, palpitation, fluttering, pain in chest or difficulty in lying on left side, your heart needs help—a strengthening tonic. There is no better remedy than Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Its strengthening influence is felt almost at once.
 "I have used 16 bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and can truthfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever used, and I have tried nearly everything that I know of. The doctor who attended me asked me what I was taking and I told him Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, he said it was not going to do me any good, but it did. I have not taken any for a year now, and while there is occasionally a slight symptom of the old trouble, it is not enough for me to continue the use of the medicine. If I should get worse I would know what to do. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as I did before. I consider myself practically cured of my heart trouble."

FAMOUS SUMMER.—While you are fussing and chewing the rag about the present summer being the only cool one that ever happened, the records of the olden time tell us that the year 1816 had no summer at all June that year was the coldest ever known in this latitude. Heavy snows fell all over the New England States and frost and ice were common, almost every green thing was killed July was also accompanied by frost and ice. The corn was nearly all destroyed August was more cheerful than the months that had preceded. Ice was formed half an inch thick. Indian corn was so frozen that the greater part of it was cut down and cured for fodder. Almost every green thing was destroyed, both in this country and Europe. Farmers supplied themselves from the corn produced in 1815 for the seed of the spring of 1817. It sold at from $4 to $5 per bushel. September furnished two weeks of the mildest weather of the season. Soon after the middle it became very cold and frosty and ice formed a quarter of an inch thick. October produced more than its share of cold weather and ice abundantly. November was cold blustery. Enough snow fell to make good sleighing. The average price of flour in the Philadelphia market during that year was $13 per barrel.—Ex.

No Operation
 Mrs. Malinda Akers, of Basham, Va., writes: "I had what doctors call 'prolapse,' and couldn't stand straight. I had pain in my back and shoulders, and was very irregular and profuse. Doctors said an operation was needed, but I couldn't bear the thought of the knife. After taking three bottles of Wine of Cardui, I could walk around. Can now do my housework and am in splendid health."
 Cardui is a pure, vegetable, medicinal essence, especially adapted to cure women's diseases. It relieves excessive periodical pains, regulates irregularities, and is a safe, pleasant and reliable remedy for all sick women. In successful use for over 70 years. Try it.
